The Selma Raiders Again.

The raiders left Selma for Montgomery over a week ago, Montgomery was evacuated on Wednesday last, and occupied by the Yankees shortly after. A detachment of them were reported at Wetumpka. Rumor says they have left Montgomery in the direction of Columbus, Ga. We have not heard the particulars of the occupation by the enemy of Montgomery. The war clan of vandal scoundrels have found another home in the Lower Counties from their conduct in Selma, the probability is, that Montgomery will be burned and plundered. It is the most destructive raid that has occurred since the war began. We are informed that they sweep and desolate the country they pass over. It is to be hoped that they may be checked before they reach Columbus.

It is reported and believed that Mobile is in the hands of the enemy. It is said that all the Government stores, etc., were removed to Mississippi previous to the evacuation.

Col. Milton has received dispatches stating that the Federals left Montgomery Friday evening, the 14th inst., going up the railroad in the direction of Columbus, Georgia.

☞ We had the pleasure of a visit from Lieut. A. C. Wheeler, of the 31st Ala., and Capt. D. C. McCain of the 39th Ala. They have been sent home to get up absentees and deserters. See their Cards in another column.

A daughter of Hon. John C. Breckinridge, who has been attending school at Louisville, Kentucky, is to be sent through the lines to her father.

Colonel Will Faulkner of the 12th Kentucky was recently killed near Dresden, Tennessee, by ten deserters from his command.

The waste of nature even when nature is refined by education are few and simple but the waste of pride and self-love are insatiable.

RECIPE FOR A HAPPY HOME.—Six things are requisite to create a happy home. Integrity must be the architect, and industry the upholsterer. It must be warmed by affection, lighted up with cheerfulness, and industry must be the ventilator, renewing the atmosphere and bringing in fresh salubrity day by day; while over all, as a protecting canopy and glory, nothing will suffice except a blessing from above.

Something of a sea monster, has been caught off the Florida coast, near Punta Rosa. He is called the "Devil Fish," and is described as having a body nineteen feet long and the same number of feet in width with a space between the eyes of four feet five inches, a mouth three and a half feet long, and wide enough to swallow a canoe. The whole of him weighs three thousand pounds.

MARRIED—On the 11th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. T. J. Goode, Mr. W. H. KIRKSEY, of the 51st Cavalry, to Miss AMANDA W. GROCE, daughter of Dr. B. W. Groce.

"I saw two clouds at morning,
Tinged by the rising sun,
And in the dews they floated on
And mingled into one."

MARRIED—On the 13th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. T. A. Cook, Capt. ROBERT MCKIERDON, of the 51st Ala., to Miss JULIA J. COOK.

"Love is the strongest cord that binds
Devoted hearts together;
Each to the other it so fondly
That naught but death can sever.

DIED—At his residence, near Eastaboga, Talladega county, on Sunday morning last Mr ISAAC KIRKSEY—Mr. KIRKSEY was one among the oldest citizens of this county. He was a good citizen, and clever man. Peace to his ashes.

GREAT MORTALITY OF SPANISH SOLDIERS IN ST. DOMINGO.—The Havana correspondent of the New York Herald writing on the 18th of February, says:

We have been for a considerable time without news from St. Domingo, probably because everything is quiet here, in expectation of the speedy abandonment of the Islands by the Spanish Government. As an instance of hopeless case of a struggle, in which by far the most terrible loss is the climate of that country, I must mention that a regiment which has been there since the commencement of the war, eighteen months ago, and which left Havana with nine hundred men rank and file, returned the week before last with only fourteen survivors out of the number. The officers did not suffer in proportion and was much more fortunate, since only seven have perished. This unfortunate regiment were the annihilation entirely to the climate, the casualties of the field being but a fraction.

With such an example before their eyes the advisers of Her Catholic Majesty must be convinced that they cannot retard the utter sin of Spain [illegible] by withdrawing the army at once from so fearful pestilence [illegible] habitable a colony.

Tom Hood said that when he was a young man he couldn't wink at a girl but she took it for matter of marriage. The consequence was a great many of the girls got hood winked.

☞ An Irishman going to market met a farmer with an ox.

"Say, mister, what'll yer take for yer big ox?" says he.

"I'll an ox," replied the astonished farmer.

"Niver a bit do I care whether it's ould or young—price the ox!"

Synopsis of the New Tax Law.

The tax law of the present session imposes for the year 1865, taxes as follows:

1. Upon the value of all property, real and personal, not expressly exempted, or taxed at a different rate, eight per cent. The property to be assessed on the basis of the market value of the same or similar property in the neighborhood where assessed in the year 1860. The property and assets of corporations, associations, and joint stock companies, whether incorporated or not, owned on the same account and in the same interest as individuals, shall be assessed and taxed in the same manner as individuals, and the taxes thereon shall be paid by the corporations or joint stock companies, thanks not to be taxed on dividends of money to the credit of and subject to the checks of others.—Stocks or shares in corporations, associations or joint stock companies not to be taxed as property, but the dividends to be taxed as income.

2. Upon the amount of all gold or silver coin, and upon the amount of all moneys held abroad, or bills of exchange drawn therefor, promissory notes, rights, credits and securities payable in foreign countries, and upon the specie value of all gold dust, or gold and silver bullion, twenty per cent.

3. Upon the value of gold and silver wares, plate, jewels, jewelry and watches, assessed upon the basis of the market value of such property in 1860, ten per cent.

4. Upon the amount of all moneys except those held abroad, bank bills, Treasury notes, and other paper issued as currency, on hand or on deposit on the day of the approval of the act, five per cent.

5. Upon the amount of all solvent credits, except those held abroad, five per cent. Bonds and stocks issued by the Confederate States or any State, and all loans to the government of the Confederate States are exempted from [illegible] the present law of [illegible] come tax not to apply to bonds or stocks exempted by law from taxation.

6. Upon profits made by buying and selling merchandize, effects or property of any description, or money, gold or silver, stocks, credits or obligations of any kind, at any time between January 1, 1865, and January 1, 1866, ten per cent in addition to the tax on such profits as income. The profits to be ascertained by the difference between the price paid in Confederate Treasury notes including all costs and charges, and the price realized in the same currency. If the objects of the sale were purchased at any time since January 1, 1863, this additional tax to attach on the profits realized on the sale thereof in 1865.

7. Upon the amount of profits exceeding 25 per cent., made during the year, 1865, by any bank or banking company, insurance or other joint stock company, a tax of twenty-five per cent. This tax to apply to individuals or partnerships as well as to corporations—individuals and partnerships that have not been assessed, or have not paid for the year 1864 the tax of 35 per cent. imposed on the excess of profits over 25 per cent. for that year, to pay the same to 1865.

8. The property, income and moneys of hospitals, asylums, churches, schools, colleges and charitable institutions, are exempted from taxation. Property within the lines of the enemy is exempted from taxation so long as it remains within such lines, but income derived therefrom is taxed as income under existing laws.

9. The following are exempted from taxation: Property of each head of a family to the value of five hundred dollars, for each minor child one hundred dollars; for each son in the army or navy or who has died in the service, five hundred dollars. The property of every soldier, or of a soldier's widow, or orphan family of minors, to the value of one thousand dollars. Said exemptions not to apply where the property, exclusive of household furniture, exceeds one thousand dollars in value.

Household furniture where the value does not exceed $800 on the basis of the value of 1860, wearing apparel, goods manufactured by any person for the use and consumption of his family, including slaves, poultry, fruit, and the products of gardens where said poultry, fruit and products are raised for the family of the producer and not for sale; corn, bacon and other agricultural products which were produced in 1865 and necessary for the taxpayer's family, including his slaves, during the present year and in his possession on the day of the approval of the act, are exempted from taxation.

10. Taxes on property for the year 1865 are to be assessed as on the day of the passage of this act and to be due and collected on the first of June next, or as soon thereafter as practicable. The additional taxes on profits for 1865 to be assessed and collected according to the provisions of existing laws. All the taxes imposed by this act, as well as the taxes on incomes and profits and the specific taxes and taxes on sales of the existing laws, are to be paid in Confederate Treasury notes, or in certificates of indebtedness issued by the Confederate States.

11. And the power is conferred upon the Secretary of the Treasury, to pay the taxes in advance.

12. The provision of the act of the 17th Feb. 1864, which allowed the assessed tax on property employed in agriculture to be credited by the tax in kind is repealed; that where income from property was taxed the property itself should be exempted, is also repealed.

13. The Secretary of the Treasury on the recommendation of boards of police, county courts, or other county, districts, or parish tribunals is authorized to suspend the collection of taxes in those districts where depredations have been committed by the enemy, in the cases of individuals whose resources have been so seriously damaged or destroyed as to render the payment of taxes impossible or oppressive.

To all the taxes above specified, an addition of one eighth of the amount is made in each case—to be paid in Treasury notes and applied to the payment of the increased compensation of the soldier.

The taxes for 1865 may, therefore, be summed up as follows:

On all property (except foreign credits, coin, &c.,) 8 per cent. on the valuation of 1860. On coin and foreign credits, 20 per cent., and on bullion, plate, jewelry, &c., 10 per cent.

One-tenth of all [illegible] by the present law of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
